AUGUST 1, 1956 ISSUE

TREASURY DEPARTMENT

Mr. Philip Rosenbaum of New York received word from the Philadelphia Mint in reference to order of 1956 proof sets. It expected 100,000 more 1956 sets will be struck than in 1955 which was the peak year. If and when possible they will ship as many sets as possible.

SOUTH DAKOTA COIN CONVENTION BANQUET

Held its 5th Annual Convention at the General Custer Hotel May 12-13. Above photo displays the happy group enjoying the banquet dinner.

FROM THE EDITOR'S DESK

TOUR OF THE PHILA. MINT

The month of May found your editor quite busy attending the New York Convention and motor-ing to the Mint. Leaving Newark at noon May 6th, Mrs. Spadone and I arrived at the Mint at 2:30 approximately two and one-half hour ride.

If you are able to travel this summer I suggest to our readers to visit the Mint and get a first hand view of how U. S. money is coined. A card to the Superintendent Mrs. Rae Biester of Philadelphia Mint, 16th and Spring Garden Streets, will get you information, making it easier to plan your trip.

This is what you can expect - also what we have seen and done. Parking our car in front of the building we were met by the guard at the door. Waiting a few minutes we were introduced to Captain of Guard, D.J. Karlowski who with a party of three other persons conducted a tour through the Mint explaining the operations and answering any questions. We first met Mr. E. Von Hebel, assistant sculptor and engraver. He showed our group the process of making the plaster figure moulds from which the master die hubs are made, showing us some of them and a few die breaks.

Entering the large display room on the ground floor there was a huge chandelier weighing 3400 lbs. with 120 bulbs. It is valued at a dollar a pound. The walls are of Italian marble. The ceiling is hand painted in pure gold with mosaic paintings on it. This was done by Tiffany and took one year to complete. It is valued at $40,000. and a sight I will never forget.

We then went to the gallery where we viewed through glass below the preparations and operations of the metals ready for the press room.

The Philadelphia Mint is the largest in the United States. There are twelve Federal Banks which distribute coins to banks throughout the U. S. and most of them are in the East. Before leaving we visited Mrs. Rae Biester in her large and attractive office. Although she was quite busy she was kind enough to spend a few minutes to talk to our group. We were each given a souvenir of one of the first 500 - 1956-P cents struck in 1956. I asked if the 1955-P halves were released. We were told they were not and will not be until the 1954 were exhausted; also the 1956 halves will not be released until the 1955 are exhausted. Thanking Mrs. Biester and the guards for a wonderful tour through the mint, which by the way took about 35 minutes. On our way out we stopped at the counter to purchase some 1956 Proof Sets. Only five sets per person were allowed, also available were medals. On the way home we passed the Federal Reserve Bank on 10th and Market which is ten minutes from the Mint. Each year the Mint is closed two weeks during the month of June for inventory.

Make a note to visit the Mint, and take your family. Children 8 years and over are admitted. A wonderful treat.

LETTERS OF COMMENT

Dear Sir,

Perhaps you or your readers can help me. I have an 1861 coin made of brass - it must be (mint made) as it is exactly like an 1861 $2½ gold piece. I could not tell it from a real $2½ gold but lighter in weight and seems thinner. Who would be a collector of these? It may be a pattern coin. ED. I think you answered your own inquiry, but maybe one of our readers can help you.

Dear Frank,

Just a line to let you know I picked up a 1955 double strike Lincoln cent X.F. This coin was found in a roll from a small bank in northern Vermont, and was given to me by a friend who was vacationing there.

STANLEY SCHULTZ
Keyport, N. J.

—o—

Received the following 2 cent pieces from F. J. Schaefer of Haverford, Pa. for my inspection, 1864 the reverse being shifted off center by ¼ 1865 off by ½ 1864 off by ¾ and 1864 complete up right shift.

—o—

ED. The early mintages have been noted for reverse die shifts mainly copper coins, although I have noted quite a few shifts on 1924-D cents of the later mints. As to value of these and freak coins, there is no standard price, what ever a collector is willing to pay.

ED.

Mr. L. M. VanGemeot of Bre-monton, Washington reports finding a copper nickel indian cent with the reverse shift half turned, and gave it no thought until he read my article.

For those of you who do not understand this, pick up a coin and note the obverse and reverse, you'll find the front impression is up right and the back side impression facing down. This is true on all U. S. coins. Occasionally while the die which is bolted into the bottom side of the press shifts. This accounts for the different varieties of shifts.

The hub is also locked in place in the shaft or the ram which gives you the obverse, the hub is also called a punch.

M/Sgt. Warren Berger of Fort Dix, N. J. has sent me some Vol.1 copy 1 of the Eaglet for our readers who may be saving them, please write to editor for those who are saving same.

Thank you Sgt. you've made a few readers happy.

ARE YOU A TRUE COLLECTOR?

Friend Spadone:

I did intend to write you a letter about my collecting experiences of the last 40 years or more but there is something I think is more important and that is this business of so called freak coins, now being discovered daily. I am talking about the spoiled and mutilated coins (that's what I call them) which the mints let slip into circulation such as off center coins. They should never have been issued. Personally I think a blank planchet is a better find, they are rarer and not spoiled. Poor Lincoln with his goitre, split skull and the attack of shakes recently fastened on him. Roosevelt with his Hitler mustache and feathers sticking out of his ears. What is the result of this, you cannot get a decent roll of those coins now in Br. Unc. because of fingering 95% of the people going through rolls to find so-called freaks don't even know how to handle a coin they are not true collectors. The whorls and ridges left from their sweaty fingers would delight the fingerprint experts. Then they put them back into rolls and advertise them as Br. Unc. You buy them and what do you get, a lot of discolored and fingered coins. True collectors who pride themselves on a set of bright beautiful coins are not guilty of this mishandling but a few who want to find a spoiled coin and then rush to get their names in the coin papers. To folks who believe in freaks (I don't) please handle your Unc. coins with care so that not too many will be marred. I am 80 years old, my hobby has kept me going the last few years. I am a shut in with arthritis. I strongly endorse one freak a real one I think does not detract from its appearance and you can't spoil a lot of coins looking for it. It is Old Nick himself tempting the Queen of England on the Canadian Bills. He is there all right.

Numismatically yours,
J. H. BENNETT

FREAK COLLECTORS MEET

Collectors of mis-struck coins and currency will get together at the Chicago A.N.A. Convention for the first time, with the possibility of organizing a club for collectors of mint errors or Freak Coins. There will be a display of Freaks in one separate portion of the display room and this venture promises to be one of the largest displays of errors ever grouped together at one showing.

Michael Kolman, Jr. has agreed to write up and publish any data on Freak Collecting and even has published its first item in his house publication the Federal Coin Exchange Bulletin, on the subject of the excessively rare "Double Denomination Notes". This bulletin may be acquired by contacting Mr. Kolman of the Federal Coin Exchange, 5940 Pearl Rd., Cleveland 30, Ohio. These notes will be exhibited at the Convention with many other fine exhibits. The finest and rarest of mint errors.

There has been a movement for a group of the following names to meet and organize and hold their first meeting. Officers will be elected and carry on with this most interesting phase of collecting. The following names are only a few that will start with the organization of this club, and those that may be interested in joining may contact any of the following personally.

Raymond Larson, Plattsmouth, Nebraska; Dr. J. Litman, Akron, Ohio; Charles Schermerhorn, Albany, N. Y.; Edwin Williams, Chicago, Ill.; His Honor, Edwin Johnson, Mayor of Wooster, Ohio; Ernest Spigelmier, Wooster, Ohio; Our A.N.A. Secretary, Lewis M. Regan, Wichita, Kansas; Michael Kolman, Jr., Cleveland, Ohio; H. Glickert, Seattle, Washington.

Leo Young Suffers Fire Loss

Fire recently destroyed much of the family enterprise conducted by Leo A. Young, Lockeford, Calif., coin dealer, and his four sons. Besides the coin and stamp business, they operated a grocery, butcher shop, general merchandise store, appliance shop, gasoline station and rented several pieces of property, one to the U. S. post office. Only the residence, the income property and most of the coin stock were saved. For unanswered correspondence and unfilled orders, Mr. Young asks the indulgence and patient understanding of his customers.

Facts About U. S. Money

4th article of a series

During 1943, a zinc-coated, steel cent was coined as a wartime metal saving measure. During the war the five cent piece contained 27.006 grains of silver, 43.2096 grains of copper and 6.9444 grains of manganese. The authority to mint the wartime five cent coins terminated December 31, 1945.

The paper currency now issued includes gold certificates (issued only to Federal Reserve Banks), silver certificates and United States notes, all issued by the Treasury, and Federal Reserve notes, issued by the Federal Reserve Banks under Government auspices. Former issues of Treasury notes of 1890 and gold certificates which remain outstanding appear in the money circulation figures; but these kinds of currency are canceled and retired on receipt in the Treasury. Federal Reserve Bank notes and National Bank notes are also in process of retirement; but these will continue in circulation until they are unfit for use. Outstanding old demand notes and fractional currency have been dropped from the circulation figures, but appear on the public debt statements as items of debt bearing no interest.

Gold certificates, Series of 1934, in denominations of $100, $1,000, $10,000 and $100,000 are issued only to Federal Reserve Banks against certain credits established with the Treasurer of the United States. These certificates are not paid out by Federal Reserve Banks, and do not appear in circulation. They bear on their face the wording: "This is to certify that there is on deposit in the Treasury of the United States of America—dollars in gold, payable to bearer on demand as authorized by law".

Silver certificates, in denominations of $1, $5 and $10 are issued by the Treasurer of the United States against standard silver dollars, silver or silver bullion in the Treasury against which silver certificates are not already outstanding. When received in the dollars), they may be reissued.

United States notes, received on any account by the Treasurer of the United States, are reissued in denominations of $2 and $5. As required by the Act of May 31, 1878, the amount outstanding is maintained at $346,681,016. A reserve in gold of $156,039,430.93 is held in the Treasury against these notes and Treasury notes of 1890.

Federal Reserve notes are issued and retired with the varying requirements of the country for currency. They are issued in denominations of $5, $10, $50, $100, $500, 1,000, $5,000 and $100,000. Since there is very little demand for the large denominations of currency they are printed only when required. The $100 note is the highest denomination printed since 1945. Federal Reserve notes are obligations of the United States and are secured by the deposit with Federal Reserve agents of a like amount of gold certificates or gold certificate credits with the Treasurer of the United States, such discounted or purchased paper as is eligible under the Act, and direct obligations der the terms of the Federal Reserve of the United States. Federal Reserve Banks must maintain a reserve in gold certificates or gold certificate credits of at least 25 percent of these notes in actual circulation, including in this reserve the redemption fund, (equal to not less than 5 percent of the notes outstanding, less the amount of gold certificates held by the Federal Reserve agent as collateral) which must be deposited with the Treasurer of the United States and any gold certificate or gold certificate credits held as collateral.

Legal Tender

Under Title III of the Act of May 12, 1933, as amended by the Joint Resolution of June 5, 1933, all coins and currencies of the United States (including Federal Reserve notes and circulating notes of Federal Reserve Banks and National Banking Associations), theretofore or thereafter coined or issued are legal tender for all debts, public and private, public charges, taxes, and dues. Under a Joint Resolution August 27, 1935, dollar for dollar exchange of the coins, and currencies of the United States is provided.

A BIT OF SOUND REASONING

By J. Grove Loser

1955-P Nickel vs. 1955-P Halve

There was about 8 million plus of the nickel minted and some less than three million of the halves. We all know by this time the half dollar will not be enough to take care of the millions of collectors we have, some that collect singles, some year sets, some Franklin half sets and some that are investors that collect rolls, and also the few that try and collect all mentioned. So writing as just one man's opinion any one that has picked up a few of these half dollars that we all have been waiting for since early in 1955 should forget they have them at least for a year or two.

Now take the 55-P nickel with about eight million minted. Out of the eight million my guess would be that far more than half of them went into circulation before anyone gave the number that the mint was making any thought. This nickel (also just one man's opinion) should be the baby to hold on to.

QUESTION-ANSWER BOX

Question:

Where can I obtain some transparent coin envelopes of material similar to 1955 proof set containers, and a tool of some kind for sealing them? The ones I have bought so far are very fragile and are unsatisfactory.

EARL F. HALL
416 West Huntley St.
Aberdeen, Washington

Answer: Maybe some dealer reading this may be able to help you.

Question:

Can you tell me what the following abbreviations stand for?

M. A. N. A.
N. A. C. D. A.
C. C. C.

Why do dealers sell 1956 proof sets, when you can buy them from the mint and save 60c to $1.20?

JOHN WILHELM
Bartlesville, Okla.

Answer:

1. M.A.N.A. - Middle Atlantic Numismatic Association
2. N.A.C.D.A. - ?
3. C.C.C. - ?

As for proof sets collector's don't wish to wait a few months for them.

CANADIAN MINT MARKS

When Canadian coinage began in 1858, the coins were struck at the lower Mint in London, England. They didn't place mint marks on their coins. The coins with the "H" mint marks were struck at Heaton's Mint Birmingham, England. The Canadian Mint opened in 1908 and the Canadian coins have been made in Ottawa since then. The 1907-H Cent was the last Canadian coin struck at Heaton's Mint while all the rest of the 1907 coins were the last coins struck for Canada at the Tower Mint.

In 1958 Canada will mark the 100th anniversary of Canadian coins as well as the 50th anniversary of the opening of the Canadian Royal Mint in Ottawa.

1958 will be a mint mark of progress in the growth of a great young country.

Mexican Coinage

By James A. Brown

The history of Mexico is readily traced through its coinage from the time of Cortez to today. For over 200 years the eight real or pieces-of-eight, comparable to our silver dollar, was standard money in the United States until 1857 when Congress officially proclaimed they were no longer legal tender and redeemed them for melting and for subsequent re-issue as U. S. silver coins of various denomination.

From the period of the ransom of the Aztec Montezuma for a roomful of gold and the eventual extermination of this race by the conquistadors, coinage was not long in forth-coming. As these and other aborigines were enslaved into the mining of gold and silver, it became of paramount importance to coin the treasure for shipment overseas. The gold doubloon and the pillared dollar as pieces-of-eight were sometimes called, were put into world-wide use and for 400 years some countries had no other coinage. The pillared dollar was in such general use here in the U. S. that it was even cut into pieces and the parts called bits, such as two bits and four bits and the expression is still used colloqually. The pillars on the silver dollar with the entwined ribbons were so familiar a sight that they were used as a sign of money and so the dollar sign was born.

The Spanish rule of Mexico lasted into the 19th century and the ill fated rule of the Emperor Maximilian lasted from 1864 to 1867 when he faced a firing squad of revolutionaries. After this episode came the Republic patterned like our own in many ways with a president as the head of the nation.

Many of the early Mexican coins are really nice portrait coins of the kings of Spain and although many millions were minted an extra fine piece is quite scarce and makes a collector's item. There are many now in circulation with Chinese chop marks.

The later and more modern of the Mexican coins have the symbol of the eagle killing the snake above a cactus bush and even the lesser coins have this artistic design. Some nice Mexican crowns of recent mintage are 1947 "Aztec Chief," 1949 "Troy Ounce," 1950 "Railroad Dollar," 1951-1954 "Hidalgo" there is no real shortage of these coins at the present time but in the future will be eagerly sought after.

No description of Mexico would be complete without some note of the "Stone of the Sun" or what is known as the Aztec Calendar Stone, which was re-discovered in 1790. The Spanish destroyed the Aztec City of "TENOCHTITLAN" in 1521 and buried the stone. A large medalion replica is now obtainable in copper, bronze or other metals with a faithful image of this beautiful work of art which was handcarved over a period of 52 years. This fine artifact is a composite calendar, sundial, historical, mythological and astronomical masterpiece, more modern in many ways than more recent time recording devices.

PENN-OHIO COIN CLUBS

The Penn-Ohio Coin Clubs' annual picnic will be held this year at Geauga Lake Park all day Sun., August 12. Geauga Lake Park is located on Ohio Route 43, south-east of Cleveland, in the very heart of the Penn-Ohio territory. This yearly outing is one of the older numismatic picnics, having been held since 1938. All Penn-Ohio members and their families and friends are invited to Geauga Lake which provides ample playground and park facilities for a day's relaxation for both youngsters and oldsters. Further attractions will be an outdoor program and the election of Penn-Ohio officers for the coming year, as well as a short auction.

NOTICE

It has been noted that R. H. Burnie formerly of 1017 Buena Vista, Pascagoula, Miss. and of 510 Jeronme Street, Texarkana, Texas has been expelled from a noted coin publication. If anyone has sent money for coins and has not received them, contact Ass't. Chief of Police, Texarkana, Texas.

NOTE

THE SILVER DOLLAR SCHOLAR HAS BEEN DISCONTINUED.

HUMOR NOTES

"I think you might as well give your husband a divorce," the judge advised.

"What!" shouted the wife. "I have lived with this bum for 20 years and now I should make him happy?"

Mary: "I went to the movies yesterday and had to change my seat three times."

Helen: "Heavens! Did a man get fresh?"

Mary: "Finally."

SPECIAL ON ONE ROLL EACH OF 1c, 5c, 10c, 25c, 50c, OF THE 1954 PHILADELPHIA MINT. FACE VALUE $27.50
ALL 5 ROLLS FOR $33.00.

I still offer $35.00 Trade in value for each Brilliant. Unc. 1889-CC Silver Dollar. Your 89 must be reasonably nice.
This applies to anything in this ad including Rolls.

MY MONTHLY TIPS

Now that the 1950-D Nickel is about gone watch the price. I will allow a $12.50 trade value for each B.U. Roll sent me. I continue to recommend all 1955 dimes at current market prices. The 1953-S Dime looks very cheap at $7.50 per roll. Just a hunch.

REGARDING CARSON CITY DOLLARS

The 1889-CC is advertised at $35.00 each and hard to buy. There were 350,000 minted. The 1881-CC can be bought today for about $6.00 and only 296,000 minted. The 1885-CC today's price about $5.00 and this was the smallest mintage of all CC Dollars 228,000.

I estimate at least five million coin collectors today and the number is increasing every day. Think it over. If I was a collector and not a dealer I sure would put a few of all the CC Dollars away.

I will accept in trade Ten and Twenty Dollar Gold Pieces at DOUBLE FACE for anything in this ad. I have quite a few orders to fill.

ALL COINS IN THIS AD SUBJECT TO PRIOR SALE.

Terms: Cash with order. All Penna. collectors add 3% State Tax. Everything must be as advertised. 7 day return with full refund.

by Earl A. Mc Brayer

Collecting ancient Roman imperial coins is an interesting and informative hobby which is gaining in popularity in the United States. The contrast provided by the appearance of a group of nicely patinated ancient coins next to some pieces from current issues of the United States creates an attractive display for club meetings and shows.

The unusually fine specimens bring appropriate prices but there are many Roman numismatic items which can be purchased inexpensively either in the United States or in Europe.

Among the popular and most easily obtainable denominations in the Roman field are the denarius (small silver coin, dime size); the dupondius and as (medium bronze, quarter size); and the sestertius, often called "Grand Bronze" (crown size). There are many other types, including the beautiful aureus and solidus in gold.

In beginning a collection of Roman coins some numismatists collect by emperor, attempting to obtain one coin struck by as many different emperors as possible. (There were over two hundred emperors and princes of the Roman Empire who struck portrait coins).

Other collectors specialize in a particular type such as the popular sestertius or denarius. Still others collect according to the reverses on coins. Much can be learned about the religious beliefs and the customs of the ancient Romans from these reverses.

Although the inscriptions on Roman coins appear most frequently in Latin (provincial coins frequently bear Greek inscriptions) it is not necessary to have a reading knowledge of the Roman tongue to enjoy this pastime. The names of nearly all the Roman rulers are the same in English as they appear on the face of their coins.

Why don't you add a few eighteen hundred year old pieces to your collection, and see if collecting ancient Roman coins isn't catching?

"Never mind her! Get last month's issue of the Flying Eaglet."
